DECISION GRANTING FINAL AWARD OF ATTORNEY'S FEES AND COSTS¹

On March 15, 2016, Dorothy Sicard filed a petition seeking compensation under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program ("Vaccine Program"),² on behalf of S.S., her minor child. Sean Sicard (previously identified by his initials) was thereafter substituted in as the named Petitioner on June 12, 2018, after reaching the age of majority. See ECF No. 57. Petitioner alleged that he developed antiphospholipid antibody syndrome (“APS”) and/or systemic lupus erythematosus (“SLE”) as a result of receiving a third dose of the human papillomavirus (“HPV”) vaccine on March 15, 2013. See generally Petition (ECF No. 1).

² The Vaccine Program comprises Part 2 of the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986, Pub. L. No. 99-660, 100 Stat. 3755 (codified as amended at 42 U.S.C. §§ 300aa-10-34 (2012)) (hereinafter "Vaccine Act" or "the Act"). All subsequent references to sections of the Vaccine Act shall be to the pertinent subparagraph of 42 U.S.C. § 300aa.

During the case’s life, Petitioner filed medical records from various treating physicians in support of his claim. See e.g., ECF No. 7, Ex. 1–8. Respondent filed a Rule 4(c) Report on October 25, 2016, recommending that compensation was inappropriate in this matter, and that the case should be dismissed. ECF No. 18. After the filing of expert reports by both parties, numerous status conferences, and an interim attorney’s fees award, the case was transferred to me from Special Master Roth on July 30, 2020. See July 30, 2020 Docket Entry Order. Although I had set a schedule for briefing a ruling on the record in this case, Mr. Sicard opted instead to request a voluntary dismissal of the matter (ECF No. 94) (“Mot.”). On January 13, 2021, I issued a decision dismissing the petition with prejudice. See Decision, dated Jan. 13, 2021 (ECF No. 96).

Petitioner has now filed a motion for a final³ award of attorney’s fees. Motion for Attorney’s Fees and Costs, filed February 4, 2021. (ECF No. 100) (“Fees App.”). Petitioner requests a final award of $24,582.00 in attorney’s fees for the work of two attorneys (Ms. Courtney Van Cott and Mr. Andrew D. Downing) as well as the supportive work of one paralegal. Id. at 4–5. Respondent reacted to the fees request on February 4, 2021. See Response, dated February 4, 2021 (ECF No. 101). Respondent is satisfied that the statutory requirements for an attorney’s fees and costs award are met in this case, and otherwise defers to my discretion the calculation of a proper amount to be awarded. Id. at 2, 3. No additional costs were incurred since Petitioner’s last was billing submitted and an interim award was issued. Fees App. at 4.

ANALYSIS

I. Petitioner’s Claim had Reasonable Basis

Under the Vaccine Act, a special master may award fees and costs to an unsuccessful petitioner if: (1) the “petition was brought in good faith”; and (2) “there was a reasonable basis for the claim for which the petition was brought.” Section 15(e)(1). I have in prior decisions set forth at length the criteria to be applied when determining if a claim possessed “reasonable basis” sufficient for a fees award. See, e.g., Sterling v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., No. 16-551V, slip op. at 5 (Fed. Cl. Spec. Mstr. Jan. 3, 2020). In short, the claim’s reasonable basis must be demonstrated through some objective evidentiary showing. Cottingham v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., No. 19-1596, slip. op. at 9–10 (Fed. Cir. 2020) (citing Simmons v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., 875 F.3d 632, 635 (Fed. Cir. 2017)). This objective inquiry is focused on the claim— counsel's conduct is irrelevant (although it may be relevant to whether the matter was initiated in good faith). Simmons, 875 F.3d at 635. Reasonable basis inquiries are not static—they evaluate not only what was known at the time the petition was filed, but also take into account what is learned about the evidentiary support for the claim as the matter progresses. Perreira v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 33 F.3d 1375, 1377 (Fed. Cir. 1994) (upholding the finding that a reasonable basis for petitioners' claims ceased to exist once they had reviewed their expert's opinion, which consisted entirely of unsupported speculation).

The standard for reasonable basis is lesser (and thus inherently easier to satisfy) than the preponderant standard applied when assessing entitlement, as cases that fail can still have sufficient objective grounding for a fees award. Braun v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 144 Fed. Cl. 72, 77 (Fed. Cl. 2019). Under the Vaccine Act, special masters have “maximum discretion” in applying the reasonable basis standard. See, e.g., Silva v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 108 Fed. Cl. 401, 401–02 (Fed. Cl. 2012).⁴ The Court of Federal Claims has affirmed that “[r]easonable basis is a standard that petitioners, at least generally, meet by submitting evidence.” Chuisano v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 116 Fed. Cl. 276, 287 (Fed. Cl. 2014) (internal quotations omitted) (affirming special master). The factual basis and medical support for the claim is among the evidence that should be considered. Carter v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 132 Fed. Cl. 372, 378 (Fed. Cl. 2017).

Although it was ultimately dismissed, Petitioner's claim had sufficient objective basis to entitle him to a fees and costs award. Petitioner's good faith arguments were backed by many solid items of proof and expert support, and there was objective support in the record for core matters like proof of vaccination and the nature of Petitioner's injury. Further, Special Master Roth previously determined good faith and reasonable basis for the submission of this claim, and I do not find that evidence adduced in the case since the interim fees award undercuts that earlier determination. See Interim Fees Decision, dated Nov. 4, 2019 (ECF No. 78). Respondent for his part does not otherwise contest reasonable basis. Accordingly, a final award of fees and costs in this matter is appropriate.

II. Calculation of Fees

Determining the appropriate amount of the fees award is a two-part process. The first part involves application of the lodestar method—“multiplying the number of hours reasonably expended on the litigation times a reasonable hourly rate.” Avera v. Sec'y of Health & Hum. Servs., 515 F.3d 1343, 1347–48 (Fed. Cir. 2008) (quoting Blum v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 888 (1984)). The second part involves adjusting the lodestar calculation up or down to take relevant factors into consideration. Id. at 1348. This standard for calculating a fee award is considered applicable in most cases where a fee award is authorized by federal statute. Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 429–37 (1983).

An attorney’s reasonable hourly rate is determined by the “forum rule,” which bases the proper hourly rate on the forum in which the relevant court sits (Washington, D.C., for Vaccine Act cases), except where an attorney’s work was not performed in the forum and there is a substantial difference in rates (the Davis exception). Avera, 515 F.3d at 1348 (citing Davis Cty. Solid Waste Mgmt. & Energy Recovery Special Serv. Dist. v. U.S. Env’tl. Prot. Agency, 169 F.3d 755, 758 (D.C. Cir. 1999)). A 2015 decision established the hourly rate ranges for attorneys with different levels of experience who are entitled to the forum rate in the Vaccine Program. See McCulloch v. Sec’y of Health & Hum. Servs., No. 09-293V, 2015 WL 5634323, at *19 (Fed. Cl. Spec. Mstr. Sept. 1, 2015).

Petitioner requests the following rates for his attorneys and support staff, based on the years work was performed:

	2019	2020
Andrew D. Downing, Esq.	$385.00	$385.00
Courtney Van Cott, Esq.	$205.00	$275.00
Paralegal	$135.00	$135.00

Fees App. at 9.

The rates requested for the attorneys and for the paralegal work are consistent with what they have previously been awarded, and I find no cause to reduce them in this instance.⁵ This includes the increase sought for Ms. Van Cott’s work in 2020. See Perekotiy v. Sec. of Health & Human Servs., No. 16-997V, 2020 WL 6395509 (Fed. Cl. Spec. Mstr. Sept. 29, 2020) (finding an increased rate of $275.00 for Ms. Van Cott’s work in 2020 reasonable). I also find that the sum of ⁵ Furthermore, the hourly rates requested are also consistent with the Office of Special Masters’ fee schedule.

https://www.uscfc.uscourts.gov/sites/default/files/Attorneys%27%20Forum%20Rate%20Fee%20Schedule%202020.PPI_OL.pdf

The hourly rates contained within the schedules are updated from the decision in McCulloch v. Sec’y of Health & Human Servs., No. 09-293V, 2015 WL 5634323 (Fed. Cl. Spec. Mstr. Sept. 1, 2015).

work performed on the matter since the interim fees award is reasonable. Accordingly, I shall make no adjustments to the sum requested for final fees in this matter.

CONCLUSION

Accordingly, in the exercise of the discretion afforded to me in determining the propriety of a final fees award, and based on the foregoing, I GRANT Petitioner's Motion for Attorney's Fees and Costs. I therefore award a total of $24,582.00 in the form of a check payable to Petitioner's counsel, Mr. Andrew Downing, Esq. The check is to be forwarded to Van Cott & Talamante, PLLC, 3030 N. Third Street Suite 790 Phoenix, AZ 85012.

In the absence of a motion for review filed pursuant to RCFC Appendix B, the clerk of the court SHALL ENTER JUDGMENT in accordance with the terms of this decision.⁶
